THE NEW SAUER SL5

INSTINCTIVE SPEED

SL 5 - INSTINCTIVE SPEED, TIMELESS ELEGANCE

"Instinctive speed, timeless elegance" is the motto of Sauer's new SL5 semi-auto shotgun that has been launched in time for the coming fall and winter hunting season. The goal was nothing less than the ultimate combination of relentless reliability, perfect ergonomics and an elegant appearance. All of this was achieved in cooperation with the Italian gun maker Breda, who perfected the legendary inertia reloading system in cooperation with inventor Bruno Civolani. SAUER engineers have then designed the perfect balance around this well proven "motor" of a system. "Within the company we call it "Shootability" explains SAUER Product Manager Frederic Hanner, "meaning no less than that not only newcomers get excited about the great balance of the gun but also professionals being used to over and under's have no problem changing over to our semi-auto." With the help of the Ergofit-inlays, shooters can furthermore adjust drop and cast of the gun and fit it individually. Satin finished coatings on barrel, receiver and bolt are features for the real hunter as they prevent any reflections and provide best protection for the gun. The technical package is finished off by 5 multi chokes included at delivery and the typical Sauer sling swivels that can be removed at the push of a button. The laser grained walnut stock provides an elegant appearance and additional natural camouflage without any foil or print. SAUER'S new SL5 is delivered in a solid ABS-case and is available with 28" and 30" barrels.

SAFE With little room in the blind you can easily reload the SL5.

ELEGANT Perfect balance and comfortable recoil make shooting the SL5 a pure joy!

ETHICAL Having the third shot ensures that wounded game can be dispatched quickly.
